CIRCULAR NUMBER - 7

Sub : Commissioning Water Supply through ongoing schemes..

As we are aware, the Government of Maharashtra has undertaken the programme of "freedom from tankers" and of providing drinking water supply to all needy villages before March 2000. The Maharashtra Jeevan Pradhikaran has undertaken this massive programme with great zeal and determination and is very much dependent on the interest and active part of the construction agencies to whom works have been allotted.

In order to reap the benefit of the huge expenditure being made on water supply programme, it is essential that as many schemes as possible are brought to such a level by ensuing summer that water supply can be commissioned by installing pumping machineries as required. Further works like Elevated Service Reservoirs, Comprehensive Distribution System will go on in future.

I have, therefore, to appeal to all the agencies to accelerate their pace of work and to specially see that the required pumping machineries are procured immediately and installed at site, so as to commission the water supply during the coming summer. The MJP officials are directed to see that all formalities are taken up in hand immediately and completed quickly so that much progress can be achieved specially in respect of tanker fed villages.
